At Home in the Cold
by Stephen Whitt, Jessica Fries-Gaither, and Nicole Luthy
Choral Reading for Grades K-1

Group 1: The top and bottom of the world are cold places. There are oceans there.

Group 2: The ocean water is very cold. What kinds of animals live there?

Group 1: Penguins live at the bottom of the world.

Group 2: Whales and seals live at both the top and the bottom of the world.

Group 1: How do they live in such cold places?

Group 2: The animals have a lot of fat. This fat is called blubber.

Group 1: It keeps them warm, even in the cold water.

Group 2: You might not want to live in these cold places.

All: But for some animals, it is just right!
