You would like to play with your brothers and sisters. This would teach you how to hunt. Your pack would hunt together. You might hunt caribou, rabbits, and musk oxen.

http://beyondpenguins.nsdl.org

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Stephen Whitt
Director of Experience Programs
Teaching and Learning COSI

He has written over 40 articles for children’s science magazines, and his first book, called The Turtle and the Universe was published by Prometheus Books in 2008.

Jessica Fries-Gaither
Elementary Resource Specialist,
The Ohio State University

Jessica taught elementary and middle school in Memphis, TN and Anchorage, AK.

Licensed Under a Creative Commons license.
http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/

Supported by the National Science Foundation

Find this story and others at:
You would live with your mother, father, brothers and sisters in a group. This group is called a pack. Other wolves would live in the pack, too.

But summer would be different. There would be plenty of animals to hunt. Then you could sleep in the warm sunlight with your packmates. Zzzzz…
Have you heard of the Arctic? It is a place at the top of the world. Many animals live on the land and in the water there.

Your life would be hard. Hunting is dangerous. You might not be able to find food. Then you would be hungry.

GLOSSARY
PACKMATES – animals in the same pack that lives and hunts together
PACK – a group of the same kind of animal

Photo courtesy of Taso_H, iStockphoto.
You would be cold and hungry during the winter. You would huddle with the other wolves to stay warm.

One of these animals is the arctic wolf. It is a wolf with snowy white fur. Imagine that you are a wolf. What would your life be like?